

Call for Expressions of Interest in Marie Skłodowska-Curie Individual Fellowships 2016 Competition: Department of Economics and Related Studies, University of York

The Economics Department at the University of York seek to support strong researchers currently based outside the UK in applying for Individual European Fellowships under the above scheme. Applicants can be of any nationality but they must not have spent more than 12 months in the last 3 years in the UK. They are seeking researchers who wish to work in the following areas:

Microeconomic Theory

- Measurement of Power and Institutions from Axiomatic Standpoint
- Coalitional Bargaining with Externalities
- Nash Programme: Axiomatic and Strategic Approaches to Coalitions
- Innovation, Information and Market Structure
- Climate change and International cooperation: agreements and strategies
- Matching and Market Design

Macroeconomics/Finance

- Destabilizing effects of fiscal policies and balanced budget rules in endogenous growth models
- On the origin of medium term cycles
- Habit formation in a spatial economy
- Financial crisis
- Monetary/fiscal and macroprudential policy
- Emerging market macroeconomics
- Fiscal-monetary policy interactions and the three Ds: Debt, Demographics and income Distribution.

Econometrics

- The energy-environment challenge: A Global VAR analysis
- A time series analysis of climate change
- Modelling and forecasting interaction between economy and pollution
- House prices, macro-economy and the wellbeing of societies
- Inflation differentials and inflation persistence in the euro area
- Revisiting forecast evaluations

Applied Microeconometrics

- Family economics and child development
- Labour Economics
- Child Human Capital
- Peer Effects
- Policy Evaluation

Health Economics

- Health econometrics
- Health equity and equality of opportunity

- Evaluation of health policies

The deadline for submission of the expressions of interest is Monday 16th May 2016. Further information is available on the Department of Economics and Related Studies website.